Focusing on Stepfamilies

July 19, 2008

Would you like to better deal with the challenges of relationships with children, managing finances and relationships?

Thriving Marriages offers

- A fun and interactive way to strengthen your marriage
- A relaxed place to meet other couples in a stepfamily just like you
- Time away together to focus on maintaining and renewing your relationship

Some of the very unique issues that confront stepfamilies can be very challenging to the couple's marriage relationship. We know your marriage and your family are important to you. We would like to support you in building a strong foundation and strengthening family bonds.
